

Comparison of practice for aggregate use in road construction—results from an international survey

M. Fladvad

*Department of Geoscience and Petroleum, NTNU—Norwegian University of Science and Technology, Trondheim, Norway
Norwegian Public Roads Administration, Trondheim, Norway*

J. Aurstad

Norwegian Public Roads Administration, Trondheim, Norway

B.J. Wigum

Department of Geoscience and Petroleum, NTNU—Norwegian University of Science and Technology, Trondheim, Norway

nology.

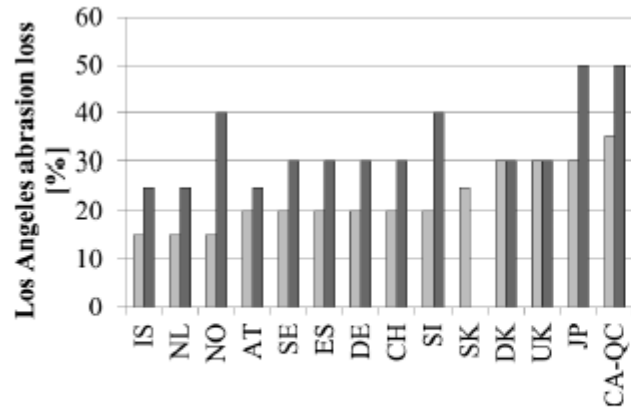

Figure 8. Upper limits for Los Angeles abrasion loss for aggregates used in bitumen bound materials.

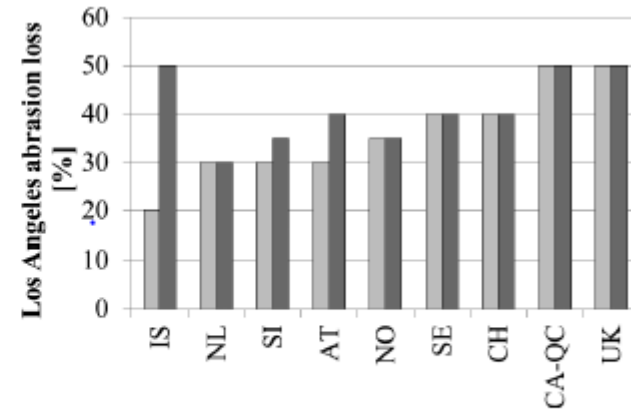

Figure 10. Upper limits for Los Angeles abrasion loss for unbound materials.